Another of Rye's exceptional independently run stores can be found on Rope Walk. Located within a collection of old buildings, Soap and Salvation is owned by Jo and Barrie, who not only aim to curate a remarkable range of antique and vintage pieces, but who are also committed to enriching the historical buildings they occupy. A chapel with huge, arched windows and a vaulted ceiling is just one of the spaces where you can peruse their goods, while a mezzanine area houses The Library. This contains a collection of art, design, photography, fashion and architecture books, which are available for purchase.
